- Profile:

Advanced Medical Solutions s.r.o. develops, produces, and distributes integrative solutions for the early and non-invasive diagnostics and therapy of arterial, venous, and lymphatic systems with a specific focus on diabetic patients and other groups with cardiovascular risk factors. Our mission is to prevent vascular problems using non-invasive diagnostic and therapeutic solutions set according to the actual needs and condition of the patient. Our solutions help maintain a healthy flow and blood circulation, especially for diabetics against the risks of diabetic foot. Our solution is also suitable for seniors and other patients.

Our therapies are adapted to the actual status of arteries, veins, and the lymphatic system and are available both for application in hospitals and the natural environment of patients.

Apart from our products we also offer innovative solutions for telerehabilitation.

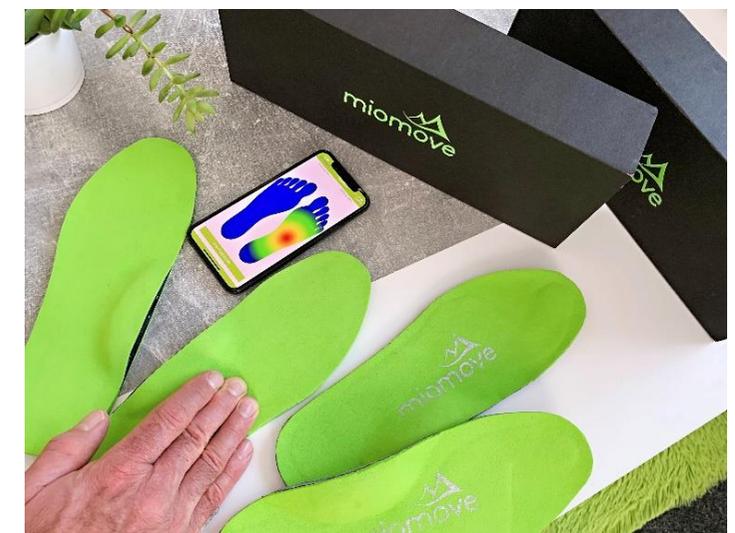

Products

- Vlab4000 – The VLab-4000 device is used for non-invasive diagnostics, screening, monitoring, and evaluation of perfusion quality (blood flow) on the periphery, especially on the lower limbs based on plethysmography methods (air andoptical).
- Pneuen MEDI – The pneuen device works on the principle of sequential compression drainage and is intended for therapeutic purposes - especially as a gentle therapy of the lymphatic system and at the same time to support venous return.
